

RA Magazine: 'Your A to Z guide to Frieze week', by Sam Phillips, October 9th 2015

Your A to Z guide to Frieze week

By Sam Phillips

Published 9 October 2015

As an alphabet of art opens in London to coincide with the Frieze art fairs, we give you the ABC guide to the top shows to see.

X is for Xu

Frieze London reflects the real globalisation of the art world. You're just as likely to see a Middle Eastern installation artist on view in an American gallery's stand as a German painter on show with an Asian exhibitor. Almine Rech gallery – which has spaces in Paris and Brussels – presents the Chinese artist Xu Qu, an artist who produces kaleidoscopic representations of mazes in acrylics, echoing the labyrinthine structures of the information age.

Almine Rech Gallery, Stand A8, Frieze London, Wednesday 14 – Saturday 17 October