

artnet news: '20 Sensational Cures for Fair Fatigue During FIAC. From Tino Sehgal's enigmatic show to the newly reopened Ritz Hotel', October 13th, 2016

The sparkling Eiffel Tower, the Louvre, the Arc de Triomphe—the City of Light remains one of the most magnificent destinations in the world, with Parisians, unlike tourists, resolutely undeterred by last year's terrorist attacks.

Paris uniquely combines historical buildings with the best of contemporary art, and visitors to this year's edition of FIAC, which runs from October 20 – 23 at the Grand Palais, will have a lot to discover in the city's galleries and institutions.

We've gathered 20 of the most exciting shows and events around Paris:

Tom Wesselmann, Smoker #3 (1968). Courtesy Almine Rech Gallery.

13. Tom Wesselmann, “A different kind of women” at Almine Rech Gallery, October 17 – December 21

Super dealer Almine Rech—who has recently launched a new space in London, showcasing works by none other than Jeff Koons—is hosting the most significant representation of Tom Wesselmann's work in Paris since his 1994 retrospective at the Fondation Cartier.

The exhibition will feature a selection of historical works, including his seminal Bedroom Tit Box, a live nude work from 1970 that will be staged in Paris for the very first time. The exhibition, organized in partnership and with the collaboration of the Estate of Tom Wesselmann, will also include post-collage works and other key pieces, so if you're a fan of this American Pop artist, this one is a must.