Last week we previewed Wes Lang's "The Studio" collection at Denmark's ARoS museum, and now we have a full look at the exhibit and its featured works. Including 60 pieces throughout Lang's career, the showcase also shared a look at Lang's actual workspace by recreating his own studio in the middle of the exhibition. With doors to the "The Studio" opening this weekend and carrying through till September, the exhibit includes everything from sketches and ornaments to furniture, and those interested in attending can find the address below or more information here.
