"TAKE IT EASY" IS GEORGIAN ARTIST TAMUNA SIRBILADZE'S FIRST SOLO SHOW IN THE UNITED STATES @ HALF GALLERY IN NEW YORK

August 6, 2015

“Take It Easy” is Georgian artist Tamuna Sirbiladze’s first solo show in the United States. A new set of un-stretched banners teetering between the figurative and the gestural include oil stick pigeons, elongated noses and Matisse vases. These vibrant works hang over jungle-green walls mirroring the murals of Balthus at the Villa Medici in Rome. Earlier this year, Tamuna presented larger oil stick paintings from this same series in a group show at Secession in Vienna, curated by Ugo Rondinone. Tamuna is based in Vienna and was married to the late Austrian artist Franz West. Take It Easy will be on view until September 3, 2015 at Half Gallery in New York. photographs by Adam Lehrer
