The Mayfair Magazine: 'Eternal Kiss', September 1st 2015

ETERNAL KISS

Italian artist Francesco Vezzoli's work concentrates mostly on dissecting the notion of beauty. His latest sculpture 'Eternal Kiss', exhibited for the first time at Almine Rech Gallery, features two Roman marble heads, which have been painstakingly restored to their original colours with specialist advice from leading archaeologists. Through process of aesthetic restoration, the fascinating sculpture acts as a captivating portal to the past.

Francesco Vezzoli's Eternal Kiss will run from 8 September - 3 October at the Almine Rech Gallery, 11 Savile Row, W1S (020 7287 3644: alminerech.com)
