

A Blink of an Eye and the Years Are Behind Us

Sep 29, 2022 — Feb 13, 2023 | Kunsthalle Praha, Czech Republic

Kunsthalle Praha is pleased to present Gregor Hildebrandt: A Blink of an Eye and the Years are Behind Us („Ein Wimpernschlag und hinter uns die Jahre“) – covering over 20 years of the artist's practice. Curated by Christelle Havranek, Chief Curator of Kunsthalle Praha, the exhibition will also inaugurate a new programme of solo exhibitions by major living artists.

As an artist who suggests but never reveals, Hildebrandt plays with secrecy and unpredictability, preferring to trust his audience's capacity for imagination and ability to make their own references. In this sense, he regards viewers as the co-creators of his work, and invites them to join him in rediscovering the past in the largest retrospective dedicated to his work so far.

Featuring over 80 pieces spread across two galleries, including new and site-specific works, the exhibition will encompass sculptures, paintings, assemblages, installations, and more. Hildebrandt is best known for working with analogue sound storage mediums, a choice of materials that reflects his intense love of music, yet never does a sound emanate from his artworks. Instead, sound and lyrics are embedded in the materials themselves, existing only implicitly through titles that inform us partially about their nature. Hildebrandt's work makes formal references to Minimalism and Abstract Expressionism, and it is also nourished by a multitude of literary, cinematographic, musical and architectural influences. He uses these cultural sources to trigger both collective and personal memories.

For this exhibition, Hildebrandt will transform the spaces of Kunsthalle Praha allowing for objects and architectural elements to merge. Large-scale installations punctuated by new, lesser-known, and iconic artworks promise to draw the audience directly into the artist's idiosyncratic world and provide a broad view of his artistic practice.

Furthermore, the exhibition space will occasionally be turned into a venue for concerts and events organised by Hildebrandt himself, bringing his artistic community directly to Kunsthalle Praha. Since 2017, Hildebrandt has been inviting his contemporaries to show their work in a dedicated exhibition space called Grzegorzki Shows. This small space, once a gatekeeper's house in his studio building in Berlin, has been identically reproduced at Kunsthalle Praha complete with green linoleum floors and a pink neon sign. Over the course of the exhibition, a selection of 'shows' that Hildebrandt previously curated will be reproduced as sub-exhibitions in the space. Additionally, Hildebrandt will invite bands to perform at Kunsthalle Praha from Grzegorzki Records, an indie label he co-founded with his partner, Alicja Kwade.
